Dear teachers of English,

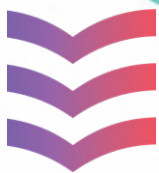

We hope you've had an amazing holiday, relaxing, enjoying the sun that was milder than usually, got lots of vitamin D and you are prepared for the autumn and winter days in which you spend time with your students, inspiring them, growing together, engaging them into the Reading & Writing Contests we have prepared (Season on the Go) and why not, actively engaging yourselves in the lively activities we have in store for you.

Because we have planned to spoil you and make this year memorable for you, a real spa for your mind and soul.

I bet you are curious about what we have in mind. Of course you can anticipate our actions related to your profession, but this year we thought of approaching you as a person as being a teacher is just a part of who you are. A person who sometimes is happy, sometimes is sad, who has worries, tough time at school, too much work to do, too little time left for oneself, a person who is a mother, a wife, a father, a husband, a person who has satisfaction, but also dissatisfaction, a person who needs friends to listen, friends to talk with.

Thus, besides the most friendly acknowledged language exams – NOCN, besides bringing the books you need to ease your teaching job, besides approving new titles to fit the new curriculum and changes, besides bringing special offers to provide support on which you can find detailed information in the newsletter, this year we offer ourselves to be your close friends prepared to listen to your thoughts, prepared to join round tables and discuss about things that teachers have in common: days at school, days at home, overwork, maybe a disappointing discussion with some parents who have pushed limits, finding solutions for disruptive behaviours, finding more time for yourself, time to enjoy life, your success, your family life, your wellbeing.

This is why we have designed a special Diary for you in which we invite you to write. We have thought of 5 sections, but you can add more. We do like this: you reflect, become aware of your feelings, your thoughts and behaviours in relation with the others' and you write down on the diary all the things you feel to come out on the paper. Every two months we meet in the cozy atmosphere from the Active Learning Centre, for those who can reach the location or in a virtual space we are going to turn cozy, warm and friendly and read fragments you choose from your diaries and discuss on different topics the group will bring out.

Besides the project called Reading & Writing: The Diary of a Teacher with its Round table discussions (Listening & Speaking), we thought of calling Teach-Talk, as a follow up activity, we have in mind many other activities we invite you to discover further on in the current Newsletter within the Active Learning Training Centre Projects section. To just summarize we mention the professional Ministry of Labour accredited course on becoming self-development counsellor, joined ventures with local CCD on continuous formation - training courses and seminars sponsored by Uniscan and Express Publishing.

We invite your schools to become Active Learning Training Centre (ALTC) Partner joining our efforts for growth, change, support and a sustainable future together. Together we build new avenues for learning, a sense of community in class and in school, we develop understanding and awareness withing students, teachers and parents.

As ALTC Partner you become NOCN examination & Psychometric Tests Centre, and Training Centre for students, parents and teachers to implement LifeQ Programs and offer support.

So, I think I have given you enough hints to stir your curiosity and make you really flick through our new school year newsletter to find out something you already know: the fact that Together We Grow.

Best success for this school year to start, best experiences, best insights, best life choices!

Best wishes,
Simona Popa

Building Educational Partnerships.

As the new academic year begins, we are delighted to invite schools, teachers, language centres and educational institutions to join the 2026–2027 NOCN ESOL International examination sessions.

Whether you are already part of the NOCN community or you are discovering our qualifications for the first time, we offer a flexible, reliable and internationally recognised assessment solution designed to support learners at every stage of their English language journey.
