When the night comes down,
And you see a scary clown,
You are full of fright,
And you don't think I'm right.

When you hear these zombies shriek,
And you see blood in a creek,
Spooky scary skeletons,
Gonna eat you soul next week.

Laughing and saying boo-ho-ho

Childrens are running seeking for help
As the ghost grab them withs its "boo-ho-ho, boo-ho-ho"

In the darkest hours, when the moon hangs low. Low! Low!
A shadow appears, where you dare not go. Waaaaah!
Her eyes like coals, her voice a horrifying wail...Wail! Wail!
A haunting presence, a ghostly tail...Booh!

She waits in corners, she hides in the night. Shh!
A creature of terror, an awful sight. Ick! Ick!
Her steps are silent, her touch like ice, Blip! Blip!
In the darkness, she feeds on your fright. "Oh no!"

I was in a haunted cemetery – Gulp! Gulp!

Where everything was telling a history. – Huh!

Someone rose from below – Ahhh!

Saying just "Hello!". – Ughh!

Immediately my blood ran cold – Gulp! Gulp!

Even if I was sixteen years old. – Huh!

I tried to run away – Ahhh!

But I was captured anyway! – Ughh!

Nights of Delight

In the haunted night, shadows creep!
Ghosts go “Boo!” and the owls hoot “Peep!”

Bats flutter by, their wings go “Swoosh”,
As witches cackle with a wicked “Broomsh!”

Jack-o'-lanterns flicker, their flames go “Crackle”!

While skeletons rattle with a bone-chilling
“Rattle”!

The wind whispers secrets with a ghostly
“Whoosh”!

Leaving goosebumps on your skin with a spine-
tingling “Ooosh!”

And the rain is falling on the ground, splat;
The tombs crack open and the zombies scream, ooh!
And the phantoms haunt the houses, boo!

In the old hallow's eve the spirits roam, woosh!
And the werewolves scream at the moon, woof
There are kids trick or treating having fun, ha!

The wind blows, whoosh,

The people start to woof,

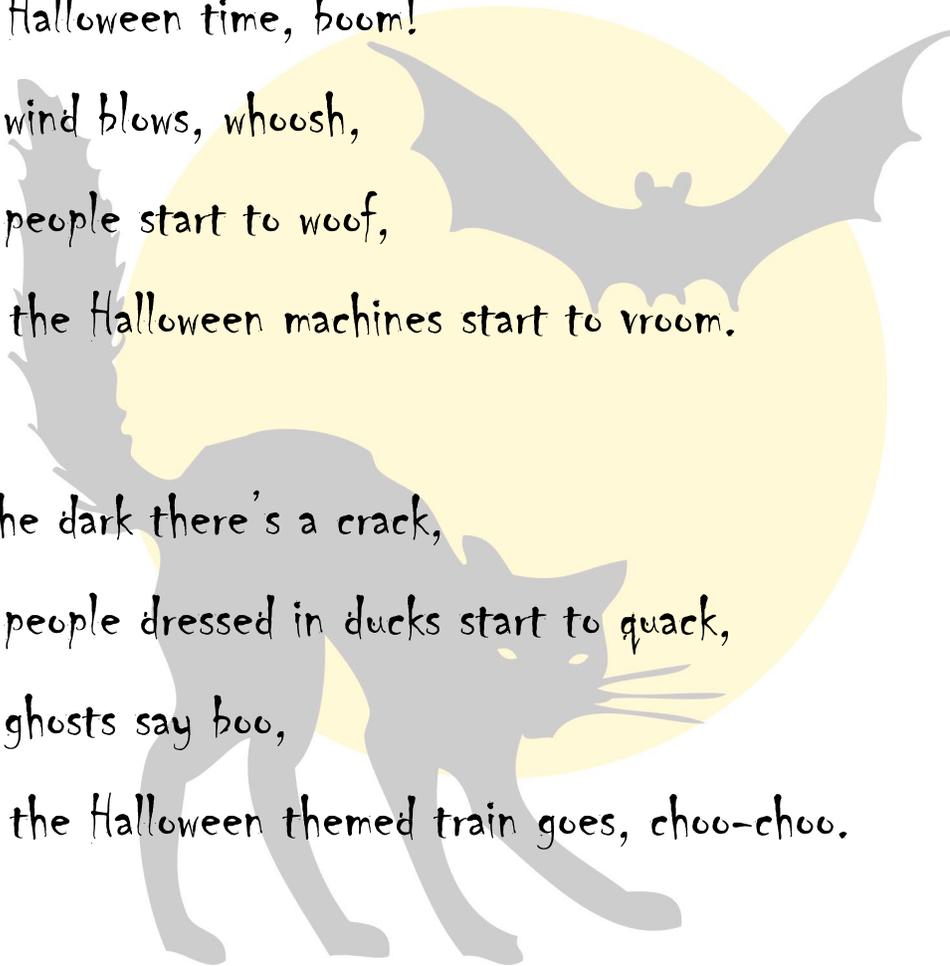

And the Halloween machines start to vroom.

In the dark there's a crack,

The people dressed in ducks start to quack,

The ghosts say boo,

And the Halloween themed train goes, choo-choo.

By class: VIII B

School, city: LTG "Johann Ettinger, Satu Mare

Halloween is the one night we get to pretend,
We hide behind a mask of the dead.
For while them we celebrate, with a big boom
We also use it to escape our gloom.

We confess behing a mask,
For we know we are hidden so we complete the task.
Many admit what they grieve, even by a small creek.
When it all goes down on All Hallow's Eve

Title: Trick or treat

By class: VIII B

School, city: LTG "Johann Ettinger, Satu Mare

The smile on children's faces, yikes, they get flying shoe-laces,
The beams when they see candies in filled cases.
The royalty little girls as princesses feel,
The strength of little boys in their costumes appear.

Yet they've all got one thing in common, it's one very big rumble,
We all eat candy like no other.
So our saying on Halloween:
Trick or Treat.

Title: All Hallow's night

By class: VIII B

School, city: LTG "Johann Ettinger, Satu Mare

All that was heard was a whisper,
The words were heard in a slither,
For the identity lies undespicable,
So the truth becomes unescapable.

It's the night of courage and fear, poof
When people are told what they need to hear,
So the confessions from greatest fright,
Happen on the Eve of All Hallow's night.

Title: The ghosts

By class: VIII B

School, city: LTG "Johann Ettinger, Satu Mare

A tortorous scream is heard,
It was followed by a pained groan,
The ghosts made their appearance out of thin air, ZIRG, then a rush of flair,
The dead royals were still looking for an heir.

They come as spirits, to hunt,
They leave the mortals with a loud thud,
So after taking one's last breath,
They bring more with them, to death.

Title: Last night of October

By class: VIII B

School, city: LTG "Johann Ettinger, Satu Mare

On the last night of october,
Is when all misunderstandings are over.
Humans, ghost, vampires, wiches, werewolves and monsters,
For one night we are eachothers fosters.

A growl, scream, thud, howl, or a boo,
They don't matter, we're all the same too.
Every day we are misunderstood,
But on Halloween, it doesn't matter who's bad or good.

Old Halloween's Eve

Edward Scottar.

When the leaves are falling to the ground, tap;
And the rain is falling on the earth, splat
The tombs crack open and the zombies scream, ooh!
And the phantoms haunt the haunts, hoo!

In the old halloween's eve the spirits roam, wagh!
And the meremalves scream at the moon, mact
There are kids trick or treating having fun, ho!
Halloween has begun!

HAPPY HALLOWEEN!

EVERY HALLOWEEN MIHINEA TIMOFAN

It's Halloween time, boom!

The wind blows, whoosh,

The people start to woot,

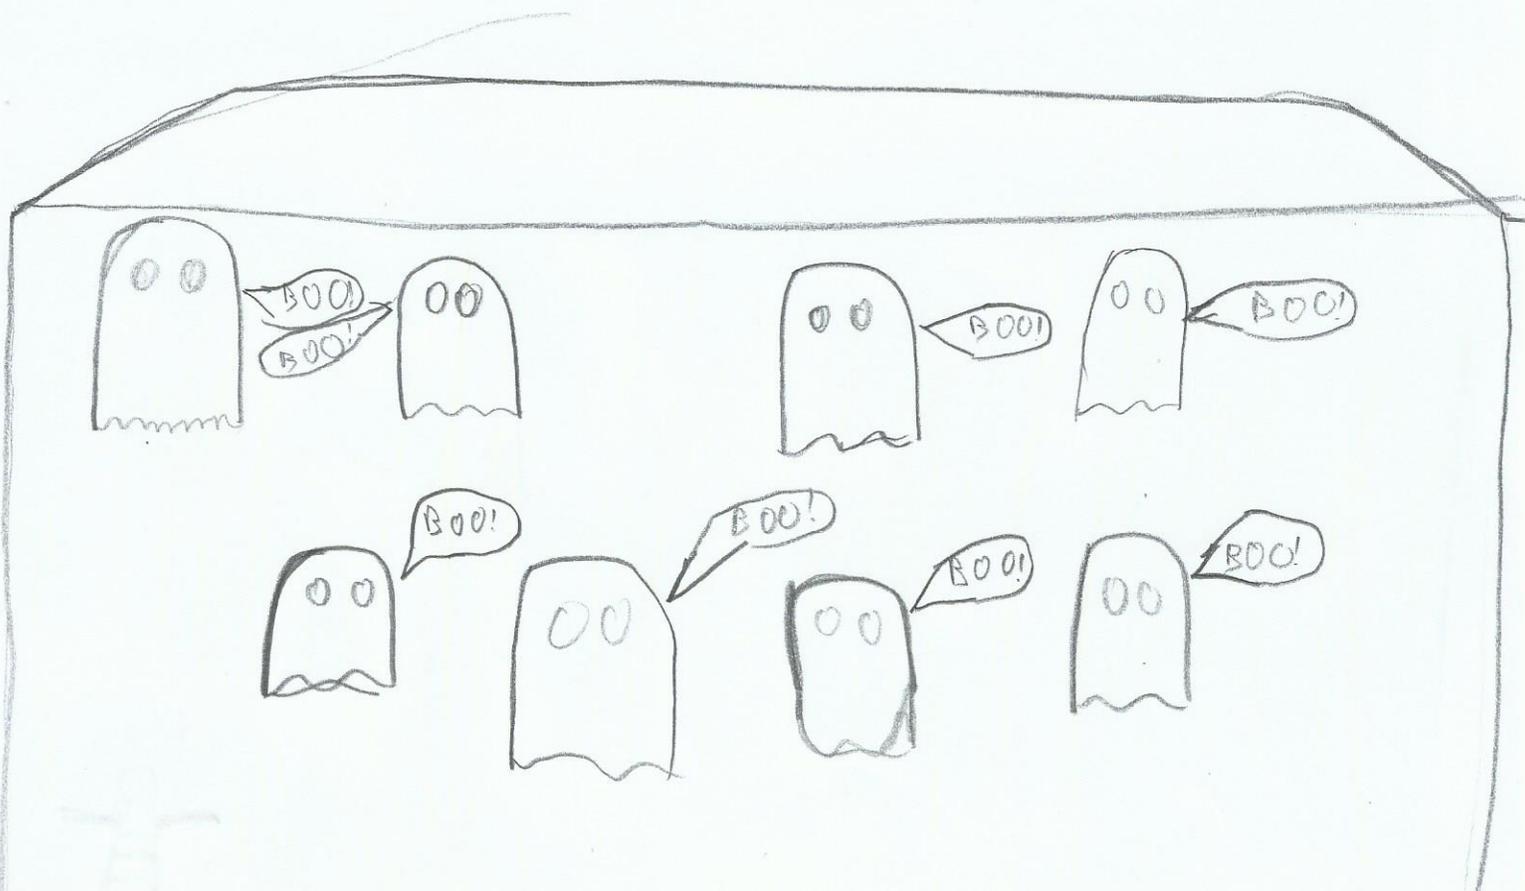

And the Halloween machines start to vroom.

In the dark there's a crack,

The people dressed in ducks start to quack,

The ghosts say boo,

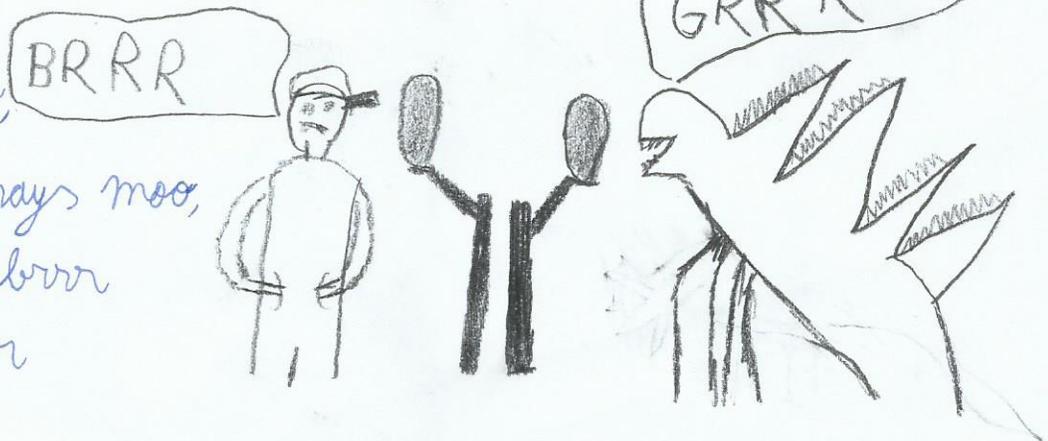

And the Halloween themed train goes, choo-choo.

Halloween Sounds

I always say boo,
Just like the cow says moo,
The U.K. rappers say boor
The monsters say goor

The black cat meows
My stomach growls
The dog says woof
The wind says woorh

Halloween is full of BOOM,
The ghosts scare you: BOO!
The wind is so cold you go Brrr,
Even the black cats go Mrrr!

The wand is used to ZAP,
It makes the kids CLAP.
Trick or treat sounds like DING-DONG
And the door opens with a BANG!

Scary Eve

It's cold inside and raining outside – Brr, Brr, Brr
I can see a long silhouette coming inside
Tap, tap, tap it sounds, but
Under the blanket I'm praying terrified.

I'm crawling down the bed – Tap, Tap, Tap
But in the dark I cannot see too much
So, I'm searching for a torch
To make some light in front my head.

Spooky

Fall is the season
When we all get dressed,
Especially on Halloween
Because we aren't that stressed.

Zombies and skeletons
Are all over the streets.
So, what can you say?
It's spooky Halloween!

The scary ghost

It is October season – Brr, Brr, Brr
The cold wind makes swoosh, swoosh, swoosh
Just the scary ghost - boo, boo, boo
It's scaring us to death – whoosh, whoosh, whoosh.

It has a pale face – huh, huh, huh
And its nose is bleeding – shh, shh, shh
The only thing that keeps us alive
Is the little hit at the door – knock, knock, knock
Who is screaming Trick-or- Treat – he, he, he
And hopes they'll get a small treat.

The scary monster

Huh! A monster is on the street outside.
It's getting scary now,
I'm going on the other side,
It's following me right now!

What can I say?
The monster is on my way.
Run! Run! Run!
But it is very dark here now!

The Halloween Night

It's cold outside – Brr, Brr, Brr
The dogs are barking – Woof, woof, woof
The wind is blowing – swoosh, swoosh, swoosh
And the trees are mourning – Ooh, Ooh, Ooh

Bats are flying in the forest – whoosh, whoosh, whoosh
Owls are eying us from the up air – Hoot, hoot, hoot
Everywhere you go it's really scary – whooo – ooo – ooo
Just how it is on a Halloween night. – whooo – ooo - ooo

“On the night of Halloween,
All the spirits have risen,
And from the muddy earth,
Pairs of zombies come out, full of dirt

The spooky laughs coming from the graveyard
Witches prepare lots of potion
And the creatures who guard
The forest from light approaching
Kids who scare each other around,
Make such some mess, but it’s not that bad!
Since the Halloween has come,
And everyone does whatever they want!

'Only treats we want!' they said,
'Because it's Halloween!' they yelled!
Every kid goes to hunt some sweets,
And everyone runs on the streets!"

All shouting loud: Boo-hoo!

“M. Eminescu” National College

Buzău

In deep shadows , where screams resound,
Lurks a doctor, mad and maybe spellbound.
He dances blindly, for many an hour
A man with a twisted mind, yelling “Roar!”

Beneath the mask, a monstrous guise,
His horror laughter echoes, never dies.
Beware the touch of his icy hand, cause his gang
In his clinic - a cursed land, will go “Bang”!

The Vampire Cat

Teacher: Caloian Liliana
"M. Eminescu" National College

Its coat as dark as midnight, sharp fangs glinting bright,
The vampire cat advances with a deadly, stealthy plight.
Unleashing its vampiric powers, a creature born to strike.
It hunts in the shadows, feasting under the moonlight's spike.
A poor dog is mesmerised by its eyes, easy pray to its bash,
A fellow vampire plunges in the pool of blood, "Splash!"

Beware the vampire cat, its presence is ominous and cunning,
An embodiment of terror, a nightmare in disguise, running.
Its purr is seductive, its cries - a haunting sweet lullaby,
Within its claws lies a curse that we cannot ever deny.
But even vampire cats can forget the treasured know-how
So it happened to our hero when it heard a frightening "Bow wow!"

Beneath the moon crawly creatures crept, 'swish, swish!'

In shadows deep children wept, 'boo hoo!'

Hoping not to be crushed like bugs, 'squish, squish!'

The forest amplified their fear with a 'boo, boo!'

They all answered in chorus, 'Aaaa! Aaaa!'

The sound of their footsteps running added, 'pitter patter!'

Ghostly figures exclaimed in contempt, 'Bah! Bah!'

Seeing that everybody trembled, 'chatter, chatter!'

Ghosts and goblins come out to play,
In the spookiest and most haunting way.

On this special night, I read in a book,
I met a fun ghost, his name was Spookie.
He floated by with a friendly look,
Said, "Trick or treat, can I have a cookie?"

I shared my sweets with a smile so wide, Spookie's eyes lit up,
he stayed by my side.

We laugh and giggle, oh, what a fun! Together we watched the

Once upon a time I grew in the ground,
I am a pumpkin, big and round.
But now I have a mouth, two eyes and a nose.
What use they for, do you suppose?
For the Halloween,
We decorate the house.
The witch is looking in a crystal ball,
And she always has a flying owl.

The Halloween is scary ,
For the children who don't like blueberry.

In the dark night of Halloween,
We just scream and don't want to be seen.
The costumes are so trendy
And every kid is getting a candy.
You can even see a bat,
But on the street is a black cat.

On 31 it's something unseen
And that's a black cat
